Dear Sister Pat:

I was deeply honored to receive the Sadako Peace Citation, and I remain committed to bringing about a lasting peace in Northern Ireland. The dramatic steps already taken toward peace show that, through determination and reconciliation, seemingly intractable problems can be resolved. The peace process involves the dedication of so many people, and it is wonderful to know that there is support around the world for our efforts.

You have my best wishes.

Sincerely,

ACCEPTED THIS AWARD
ON BEHALF OF THE PRESIDENT.

— FIONA

Dear President Clinton:

It is our privilege and pleasure, to commend you, The Honorable David Trimble, President Gerry Adams, The Honorable John Hume, The Honorable Bertie Ahern, Secretary of State for Northern Ireland Mo Mowlam, The Honorable Tony Blair, and Senator George Mitchell to offer you our thanks for your dedication to the peace process in Northern Ireland.

Your persistence, your openness to new ideas and your willingness to conciliate has set an example to the rest of the world.

We, the Disarmament committee of the Loretto Community, mirroring the admiring sentiments of the larger community of Sisters and Co-members, are further inspired in our work for Peace, Justice and Human Rights. You give us hope.

It was clear that in naming some of your number, the Nobel Committee truly commends you all, as well as the citizens without whose support the Accord would not have been possible. Would you please extend our deep appreciation to all of the people who worked with you.

As you know, Sadako of the Thousand Cranes teaches us the horror of nuclear war. The Loretto Community has been sending a statue of her with an accompanying study program for school children around the United States as one of our projects to sow the seeds of peace. Your work will now add a chapter to our story: "How People of Vision Can Make Peace Happen."

Just as the names of Sadako, Ghandi and Mandella have become synonymous with peace beyond their borders, so your names will become a part of history.

Sincerely,

Sr. Pat Kender, Coordinator
On behalf of the Disarmament Committee
