THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN

Dear President Clinton,

Your many friends in the Irish community reaffirm our support for you and your Presidency. No one has done more to bring peace in Ireland and prosperity to our people at home. I have never been as proud to be counted among your supporters.

On September 11, you will be receiving the Paul O'Dwyer award. My father in his life stood as a champion of the poor and oppressed a voice for the voiceless. He would have been proud to have his name associated with an award honoring you. The Irish community both here and abroad is proud to claim you as one of our own.

I know that these are difficult times for you and your family. I take the liberty of urging you to be resolute in the face of this adversity. We need you, we need your commitment to peace with justice. We need your unfailing patience and courage. We need, and the children of Ireland need, your vision of a new future.

Your friends may not command the media, they may not sit in the boardrooms of America, but they earnestly believe in you.

You may count on us.

Sincerely,
